We're gonna need tents, food, heat and shovels. Bring more than you need of everything you can. Think impromptu battle camp.

Even if you think you've got enough rope, bring more.

Once, many years ago I took the gf to S.F., Palo Alto for a Texas/Stanford game. . Next morning we left out of Oakland, which means we had to pass by Oakland Alameda Colliseum, game day, Raiders v. Broncos. . Holy hell. It was overcast (duh, Bay Area) and the Raiders fans has set bonfires all through the parking lot. It looked like the Visigoths laying siege to Rome.

My standard go-to when anyone asks for hotel recommendations in DC:

<https://www.marriott.com/hotels/travel/wasar-courtyard-arlington-rosslyn/>

I've stayed here, it was a decent hotel, Arlington is a great city and it's just outside of DC. Easy metro into DC.

If you have some money to spend then the Hay Adams is absolutely gorgeous and only a block from the White House: <https://www.hayadams.com/>

The Proud Boys stayed there last time, so now they're closing because their staff was "uncomfortable". That sucks, because I booked there on the day of the announcement, now don't have a place to stay. At least I didn't have plane tickets. Was hoping to not need a plan b. Couldn't you do room sharing or something? A lot of people can sleep in one hotel room. Sure, only 1~2 person can sleep on the bed, but sleeping on the floor of a room should be better than sleeping in a tent outside. And they can share the bathroom and shower.
